

UNDER INVESTIGATION

September 20 – November 2, 2013

Valerie Carberry Gallery is delighted to inaugurate its fall season with the opening of Under Investigation, an exhibition of recent work by Jim Lutes, Laura Letinsky, and Julia Fish. Under Investigation mingles the singular lines of inquiry into materials and images by three important mid-career artists.

Painter Jim Lutes probes the mechanics and psychology of the mind-eye relationship in his work. His most recent oil and tempera paintings enmesh taut, freeform brushwork with haunting and comical depictions of the body. Laura Letinsky's most recent photographs are surprisingly urgent in their precision and complexity. These images leaven their origins in traditional still life painting with an aggressive dissection of image and form that is more closely related to Modernist assemblage. Similarly, Julia Fish's drawings and paintings from her Thresholds series are premised around the subtle nuance of form found in the architecture of her own domestic environment, yet each of her images conveys a sense of expanding unfamiliarity with the subject of the artist's gaze.

Valerie Carberry Gallery is now located in Suite 3860 of the John Hancock Building and is open to the public, Monday - Friday from 10 am - 5 pm, and Saturday from 11 am - 5 pm.
